

The Environment

Kenyon is committed to ensuring, wherever possible, that all its goods and services cause minimal damage to the environment during all processes and life stages.

The company's Environmental Officer reports directly to the Managing Director and is responsible for championing the company's aims to cut its carbon emissions and energy use, as set out in the company Business Plan.

Kenyon is also in the process of applying for an eco label in recognition of its investment in the development of kitchen recycling systems.
